Dear General Kroesen:

I want to thank you and your staff once again for the stimulating briefings and discussions we had at your headquarters on November 13th. I found them most useful, and I believe we all came away with a much better grasp of the nature of the challenges you face in Europe and of the areas where US national intelligence can make a contribution. We will be working from this end toward improving that support.

Please pass on my appreciation to all of the members of your staff, and to the Commander of the 66th MI Group for their assistance in making our visit the success that it was.

Sincerely,

William J. Casey
